

Isolation Summer

feature by Elizabeth Rhodes

Summer beauty is typically focused on paring down products as a strategy to beat the heat and provide sun protection while giving your features definition and hydrating your skin. This year, things are a bit different due to the requirement of face masks and social distancing restrictions in many areas of the world, so we reached out to a group of makeup artists for their summer beauty picks, pandemic style.

Milk Makeup KUSH Triple Brow Pen

Whether you're working out or dancing in your living room to a Zoom DJ set, this vegan, water resistant triple-tipped felt liquid brow pen fills, feathers, and builds dimension for natural-looking brows. With a light hand, use short flicks to create individual hair-like brush strokes to build how dark and defined you want brows to be. Another plus from this product is that it nourishes your brows with plant-derived oils like sunflower and aloe to hydrate, keeping conditioned and healthy brows. Create that precision look of microbladed brows without the pain!

Lush Mask Of Magnaminty Self-Preserving Face and Body Mask

Recharge your face and body from the dullness of quarantine and indoor air conditioning. Pore tightening, hydrating and a deep cleanse does the skin good, especially while we are all staying inside and socially distant. I love the skin smoothing qualities provided by the copious amounts of honey and aduki beans in this product. This mask will give you fifteen minutes of wellness for the mind, body and soul.

Urban Decay All Nighter Setting Spray

All Nighter Long-Lasting Makeup Setting Spray is one of my number one can't-live-withouts during my daily makeup routine. It is sweat proof, smudge proof and mask proof! This product lengthens your makeup wear for 16 hours and also has a temperature control technology that will cool the surface temperature of your skin 4-10 degrees on average. Whether you're just going to work or a night out on the town, this spray will keep your makeup looking fresh all day.

NARS Cosmetics Mini Orgasm Eyeshadow Palette

I picked NARS Mini Orgasm Eyeshadow Palette because it has the perfect summer variety of lights and brights to accentuate all of my dark smokey hued shadows and liners. "Danger Girl" shadow (matte coral) blends beautifully with deep smokey browns and blacks to create a reddish-brown hue. A nod of seduction to your deep, dark tones for the warmer months. Finish off with a shimmer from the palette pressed into your lash line or on your lid for a sequined effect!

Melt Cosmetics Four Twenty Palette

Whenever I see a new eyeshadow palette released, I immediately wonder "what's the point?" because there are so many look-a-like palettes and it becomes tedious to imagine having more of the same, even if there are one or two colors in the palette that catch my eye. This palette is different because it features acid greens and nuclear yellow tones along with traditional neutrals but with more focus on earthy tones of red clay and stone. Whether you partake in 420 culture or not, this is a perfect summertime palette to play up your eyes while you're wearing a mask to face the brave new world. From fair to the richest deep skin tones alike, this palette's bright hues will push you out of your "comfort zone" of colors and add warmth and radiance to any neutral makeup look.
